

The Summer Space 2017

WEEK 04.
10th to 14th of July

DAY 01 Week 4 in the Summer Space was inaugurated with a meeting with Bert-Ola Bergstrand, a well known social entrepreneur and a good friend of the concept. He came about to share some insights and talk a little bit about the “in’s and out’s” of his former ventures. After that we had a discussion among the whole group about how to create and design an activity related to participatory methods and techniques. Later on, after lunch, there was a workshop about circular/shared economy - a very important concept that is highly related to all of our projects. Following that we had some more time to work on the individual projects, letting the ideas flow and brainstorming.

DAY 02 we fully dedicated the morning to the group projects except for the short while when we had Tobias Johansson, from Framtiden, in order to share some ideas and talk about the work in progress. We also had the pleasure to meet Ulf Östermark, the Sustainability Development Director from Framtiden as well. The afternoon was quite different from the usual since we all went on an interesting “study trip” to Ringön, in the Hisingen Island - an activity organized by Christer Owe to show us some of the 600 companies that are based, and working, there. This was a very fulfilling day since we came to meet very unique people and businesses, specially in relation to the Job Creation Project.

DAY 03 Magnus gave a lecture on Statistics evaluation and data collection - a tool that revealed to be very important to work with in this specific project. That gave us an extra time to work on our separate projects right before we closed the day with the usual check-out question - a fun way of closing the day.

WEEK 04.
10th to 14th of July

DAY 04 Natalie and Aleks presented us a workshop about participatory methods, techniques and engagement activities applied to real life situations. Further on, Dinesh and Simona, joined in and helped by contributing with some examples and connected experiences. The afternoon was mostly dedicated to the working in each separate project.

DAY 05 as a finale before our holiday week, we had the presentations done by each group about each project regarding finding the final research question and the progress made in the last few days. We also discussed some insights on each others ideas by evaluating what happened in this week. After that we had a potluck lunch where each student contributed by cooking a different, or characteristic, meal from their homeland country, a tasty and happy way to say goodbye to each other for a week.
